was unable to identify a photocopied photograph of RICHARD REID or his shoe. He also stated he had never seen it after seeing his photograph. When he was shown the photocopied photograph of the unidentified suspect, he stated that the suspect looked similar to him. After continuing to look at the picture, he stated that maybe just the nose looked similar and that the suspect is a farmer and lives in a very isolated area.

While in custody of the United States in Kandahar, Afghanistan, he stated that he had been beaten. After being asked to clarify exactly what had happened, he stated that the normal procedure to leave his cell to be interviewed was to lay on the floor face down and be handcuffed behind the back. On certain occasions the guards would place one of their boots on his back while handcuffing him. While this was happening another guard would hold down his feet. The floor was dirt and the rocks would cause him discomfort. He never suffered any broken bones, bleeding, or bruising. He felt it was unnecessary due to the fact that some guards handcuffed him without placing their boot on his back. He also remembers having his feet kicked as he walked to keep him moving.

Also while in custody he remembers the interviewers.

statements were lies. [Redacted] stated now that the Department of Justice is interviewing him, he wants to tell the truth and said he had been lying during previous interviews.

[Redacted] was asked if he would submit to a polygraph examination. [Redacted] has heard of but is unfamiliar with the polygraph test. Linguist [Redacted] provided [Redacted] with a thorough explanation of the polygraph test and how it is conducted. [Redacted] questioned the types of questions that would be asked and believes he could be tricked and be evaluated as deceptive. Initially, [Redacted] agreed to take the polygraph examination, however, eventually claimed that taking the test would be against his religion. [Redacted] attempted to place conditions on when and where the test would be administered. Subsequently, [Redacted] was advised that he is in no position to place conditions on the test and passing the polygraph test is the only way to prove credibility. [Redacted] was given a few days to think it over. The interview was terminated.
On September 24, 2002, was interviewed by Special Agent (SA) CTIF, (NCIS) and SA CTIF (NCIS) at Camp Delta, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The interview was conducted in Pashto, with Linguistic Cell, CTIF 170, furnishing translation from English. At the beginning of the interview, SA advised that this interview was a continuation of the interview conducted on 20Sep02 (see FD-302 dated 20Sep02), voluntarily provided the following information:

said that except for his having been conscripted to serve, neither he nor any other family members were supporters of the Taliban. stated that he is not familiar with Al-Qaeda. stated that he has never seen OSAMA BIN LADEN and has only heard about him from listening to the BBC on the radio. stated he is not familiar with what Osama bin Laden has done, however if the world says he is bad, then he must be bad.

has never seen and does not know MULLAH OMAR. opinion of OMAR is the same as that of Osama bin Laden.

provided the names of the Taliban leaders (that he knew of) in his village:

leader of the squad to which was assigned after his conscription

a commander/leader on the front line facing the Northern Alliance. never saw and only heard people say he was a leader up on the front line.

Commander/leader of Taliban in the district Province. reported directly to MULLAH OMAR.

advised that none of these individuals are at Camp Delta, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. stated these were all high level people and when the fighting started they ran.

described his Taliban conscription in the following manner:

members of the Taliban went to the village representatives to conscript people to serve for one month in the Taliban forces.

explained that the Taliban would routinely go to that family to get people for conscripted service. Every year different families would be forced to send male members of their family to serve a one month tour of duty with the Taliban. The only way to avoid service in the Taliban was to pay a fee of 50,000 Afghani, which was less than one U.S. dollar. Prior to this period of conscription had never before been forced to serve in the Taliban.

Once was notified that he was conscripted, he went, the next day, to District, where he reported to the Taliban.

Neither of these two individuals are at Camp Delta and does not know what happened to them. recalled being told that a Taliban commander had gone to meet the Northern Alliance with hopes of making a surrender deal for both his people and himself subsequently heard that had fled to save himself.

Shortly after hearing that the Taliban fell, advised that they were treated harshly. Periodically the prisoners would be bought out to be beaten and often they were not fed.

stated that when they were placed into the makeshift prison in Bamiyan, the prisoners were under the overall control of a senior official with the Northern Alliance. advised that while incarcerated, he and the other prisoners went through simple interrogations before being turned over to the immediate custody of their jailor inside the prison. During this period, the prisoners were beaten with the butts of rifles and endured several more interrogations. After finished with them and his fellow prisoners were turned over to another Northern Alliance commander. During the transfer process from and his fellow prisoners stayed inside the same prison and simply switched rooms or buildings.

While being held prisoner at Bamiyan, saw Americans a few times. On one occasion he noticed American people taking pictures and others who appeared to be journalists taking pictures. The last time the Americans came to the prison stated they took hair samples, saliva samples, and interviewed/interrogated the prisoners. During this visit, one of the interpreters started talking to and before he could finish telling how he had been conscripted into Taliban service, he was told to be quiet and to sit in a corner. opined that the interpreter, who spoke did not fully understand what who speaks was trying to tell him. stated that some of his fellow prisoners were let go, but he was sent from Bamiyan to Baghrum, where he was put into American custody.

In Kandahar stated that he felt as though he was treated like an Arab because American soldiers were pushing/shoving him around, sitting on him, using harsh language (interpreter indicated that [redacted] probably meant the tone of the voice), and the handcuffs were squeezing the wrist bone. Since [redacted] has been in Cuba, he said that he has been treated very well and has had no problems.

[Redacted] advised that during his various detention periods, to include his time at Camp Delta, he has not heard anyone mention that they were affiliated with the Taliban or Al-Qaeda. [Redacted] does not know if anyone was paid when he was turned over to the Americans.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

I was interviewed at Camp Delta, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The interview was conducted by Federal Bureau of Investigation, Special Federal Officer (SFO) and (translator) and was advised of the nature of the interview and the identity of the interviewing agents. I agreed to be interviewed and made the following statement:

I advised if given the opportunity to return back to Cuba, he would reside with family members and seek employment. In addition, I advised he would immediately get married.

I advised the United States has an "oppressive Government," because the Government is responsible for killing Muslims by indiscriminately "bombing civilians." I was advised by the interviewing agents as to why the United States Military conducted these "bombing" missions in Afghanistan (AF) and as a result of the missions, loss of life (Muslims) occurred. I advised, in his opinion, killing is only permitted in (1) self defense, (2) infidelity and (3) abandoning the Islamic religion. I agreed with interviewing agents that the killing of Muslims in AF, by U.S. Military Forces, was in direct response of the events that has occurred on September 11, 2001 on U.S. soil and of which Osama Bin Laden (UBL) along with his Al Qaeda network were responsible for.

I advised that he does not agree with the freedom of religion, stating the only true religion in Islam as described by the Quaran. I advised that the Holy Bible used by Christians, has been "modified" and contains numerous "mistakes."

While attempting to revisit previous statements contained in his file, I advised that a portion of his earlier statements were inaccurate. I advised when he was interviewed recently by SFO at Camp Delta, he told them the truth as to why he was present in AF at the time of his capture. I advised his original statement was

Delta, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba by Special Agent (SA), Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and a member of a domestic group, who translated in English, was advised that the purpose of the interview was to obtain information about the current hunger strike going on inside of Camp Delta. Being aware of the identity of the interviewers and the purpose of the interview, voluntarily provided the following information:

The mental condition of the detainees is to the point where the detainees are all participating in a hunger strike. The detainees are upset with the way they are treated by the guards. They are upset because they are being held as prisoners without being charged with a crime or released. The detainees think America is intentionally keeping people in custody for no reason other than an attack on Muslims. The detainees are going to strike by not changing their clothes, not eating food and not drinking water more than absolutely necessary. If one person starts a strike then all of the men will follow.

In the last six days, has not taken more than three ounces of water per day. He has not eaten in six days. He has not changed his clothes in a week. He wanted to be charged with a crime or released. It would not take this long to investigate the innocent people.

According to the detainees, some of the guards are telling the detainees that while they are sitting in a cell in Cuba, American Soldiers are having sex with the detainee's mothers. According to the detainees, some of the guards are physically cruel to the detainees. has not personally heard these comments from the guards. He has not seen any cruelty by the guards. However, sometimes the guards are a little rough with him even though he is cooperative.

The detainees are extremely upset with the treatment they receive from the guards. The guards are treating the detainees like animals. The guards treat their dogs better than the detainees. The detainees feel the guards treat their dogs better than the detainees.

There is talk amongst the detainees that an unknown number of detainees are going to commit suicide for the purpose of protesting the treatment at Camp Delta and to protest keeping innocent men at Camp Delta. These suicides will cause the people in the Middle East to solidify their anger against America. He does not know who is in charge of this event, when it is to occur or the people who might take their own lives.

was resting on his bed one day when a contract worker began asking him questions. The man asked him his name, and other personal information, provided with the answers to his questions, man said this information is valuable. Thinks this information is given or sold to family members, or others, thereby letting them know about the condition of the detainees has heard other detainees talk about speaking to them in English, provide the detainees with current world news, told them about the two United States Marines recently killed in Kuwait by a man whose brother was in prison here at Camp Delta. They also told the detainees that the United States is gathering troops and its allies for an attack on Iraq claimed President Bush told CNN News that all Saudi Arabians were terrorists does not want this flow and exchange of information to stop. The exchange of information will make more people throughout the world aware of what is going on at Camp Delta and that America is detaining innocent people.

detainees see the guards as babies, especially the "big American guards that fill the doorway." This is because the guards are supposed to be strong, yet they walk around with a "camel" (a backpack water storage device with a drinking tube attached) on their back sucking on the tube of water all the time. A strong man is able to go without water for long periods of time suggested that the water be kept out of sight of the prisoners and have the guards walk to where the water is kept. The detainees look with disfavor and lose respect for women guards who are wearing or putting on lipstick in front of them.
realizes that detainees do bad things to the guards that cause the guards to get mad. According to the detainees, if the guards want to be thought of as strong, they should not get angry and take their anger out on the detainees, even if the detainees give them cause to be angry. A strong man does not need to show meanness to a weak man. The detainees are wearing handcuffs and chains and the guards and interrogators are not. But all men are human and should be treated with respect. "To be a human means respect."

The water issue would not apply to the interrogators if they and the detainee are sharing water or tea out of respect for each other.

If the interviewers use force or coercion against __________ it will not work, they will just get stronger. "If you cut off their fingers, they get stronger." "If you cut off their forearm, they get stronger." "If you cut off their arm, they get stronger." While __________ was making those three statements, he was making three chopping motions with his left hand on top of his right hand, right forearm and right arm.

is telling the interviewers this information so they will notify their superiors of these problems and possibly avoid a situation that will cause problems for America and its relationship with __________ Numerous times during the interview, when asked a question by the male interviewer, __________ would look directly at the male interviewer, answer the question and with the palm of his right hand and touch his chest near his heart. was interviewed at Camp Delta, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba by Special Agent (SA) Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and a member of [REDACTED]. Also present during the interview was [REDACTED] who translated.

was advised that the purpose of the interview was to obtain information about the current hunger strike going on inside of Camp Delta. Being aware of the identity of the interviewers and the purpose of the interview, voluntarily provided the following information:

The mental condition of the detainees is to the point where the detainees are all participating in a hunger strike. The detainees are upset with the way they are treated by the guards. They are upset because they are being held as prisoners without being charged with a crime or released. The detainees think America is intentionally keeping people in custody for no reason other than an attack on Muslims. The detainees are going to strike by not changing their clothes, not eating food and not drinking water more than absolutely necessary. If one person starts a strike then all of the men will follow.

In the last six days, [REDACTED] has not taken more than three ounces of water per day. He has not eaten in six days. He has not changed his clothes in a week. He wanted to be charged with a crime or released. In [REDACTED] it would not take this long to investigate the innocent people.

According to the detainees, some of the guards are telling the detainees that while they are sitting in a cell in Cuba, American Soldiers are having sex with the detainee’s mothers.

According to the detainees, some of the guards are physically cruel to the detainees. [REDACTED] has not personally heard these comments from the guards. He has not seen any cruelty by the guards. However, sometimes the guards are a little rough with him even though he is cooperative.

The detainees are extremely upset with the treatment they receive from the guards. The guards are treating the detainees like animals. The guards treat their dogs better than the

There is talk amongst the detainees that an unknown number of detainees are going to commit suicide for the purpose of protesting the treatment at Camp Delta and to protest keeping innocent men at Camp Delta. These suicides will cause the people in the Middle East to solidify their anger against America. He does not know who is in charge of this event, when it is to occur or the people who might take their own lives.

______ was resting on his bed one day when a ______ contract worker began asking him questions _______. The man asked him his name, _______ provided _______ with the answers to his questions, _______ man said this information is valuable. _______ thinks this information is given or sold to family members, or others, in _______ thereby letting them know about the condition of the detainees. _______ has heard other ________ detainees talk about _______ speaking to them in ______ news. _______ told _______ about the two United States Marines recently killed in Kuwait by a man whose brother was in prison here at Camp Delta. They also told the detainees that the United States is gathering troops and its allies for an attack on Iraq. _______ claimed President Bush told CNN News that all _______ were terrorists. _______ does not want this flow and exchange of information to stop. The exchange of information will make more people throughout the world aware of the conditions at Camp Delta and that America is detaining innocent people.

______ detainees see the guards as babies, especially the "big American guards that fill the doorway." This is because the guards are supposed to be strong, yet they walk around with a "camel" (a backpack water storage device with a drinking tube attached) on their back sucking on the tube of water all of the time. A strong man is able to go without water for long periods of time. _______ suggested that the water be kept out of sight of the prisoners and have the guards walk to where the water is kept.

The detainees look with disfavor and lose respect for women guards who are wearing or putting on lipstick in front of them.

______ realizes that detainees do bad things to the guards that cause the guards to get mad. According to the detainees, if the guards want to be thought of as strong, they should not get angry and take their anger out on the detainees, even if the detainees give them cause to be angry. A strong man does not need to show meanness to a weak man. The detainees are wearing handcuffs and chains and the guards and interrogators are not. But all men are human and should be treated with respect. "To be a human means respect."

The water issue would not apply to the interrogators if they and the detainee are sharing water or tea out of respect for each other.
use force or coercion against it will not work, they will just get stronger. "If you cut off their fingers, they get stronger." "If you cut off their forearm, they get stronger." "If you cut off their arm, they get stronger."

While was making those three statements, he was making three chopping motions with his left hand on top of his right hand, right forearm and right arm.

meaning that his spirituality never changed but his actions did. He constantly struggled with temptations which caused him to stray.

When asked why he is at Camp Delta, he responded that the U.S. could not catch the big guys or UBL, therefore, they grabbed

He knows he was in the wrong place at the wrong time and were smart, professional people, not terrorists. He further stated that he did not believe in bloodshed. When told that not all people fight, some give money to fight, he did not respond.

When asked about conditions at Camp Delta, he responded that the worst part is how staff members were treating detainees. He considered the guards to be a minor issue though because he understood their psychology. Other detainees know therefore they sometimes ask him for advice. He recalled hearing of (name unknown) individual and opined that this was because he was thought to be a leader.

When asked if he considered himself to be a leader, he responded that However, he was cautious not to vocalize his position as a leader with “these detainees”. When asked to clarify, he explained that “these” meant members of AL QAEDA and/or TALIBAN. He also explained that, unlike him, most detainees do not understand the American culture.

When asked, he provided three things he enjoyed about the United States (U.S.): 1) Power limitations because of the Democratic form of government; no one group has all the decision-making power, 2) Everyone is accountable under the law and these laws apply to all citizens regardless of their status, 3) People are more open-minded and tolerant of different values and convictions.

Regarding the detainees, he opined there are varying degrees of Islamic worship, practices and convictions among the Muslims. He preferred to associate with those who had strong fundamental beliefs. He also associated with similar individuals. He characterized murderers, gangsters and drug dealers as nasty people.

refused to say anything about which would be considered negative. He characterized as over-enthusiastic and a noise-maker. Moreover, was quick to anger and excite; which he blamed on young age (approximately years old). However, often enjoyed deep intellectual conversation with and they considered him to be a troublemaker. was involved in an organization committed to converting the entire world to Islam. In opinion, biggest dilemma was residing in the West while at the same did not consider him to be more than an associate. Often recited the Koran during Islamic services and daily during Ramadan. was married with children, which led to deny any allegation of position as a terrorist. Again, refused to make statements of a derogatory nature toward Regarding, he characterized him as a fundamentalist who was attached to his beliefs. He requested to know if was still in custody. then became involved in a dialogue regarding the definition of fundamentalism.

He defined jihad as literally meaning "to strive or striving for Allah". These jihads may be individual, within oneself, or may be declared for a nation. He noted that many scholars are a part of making jihads A jihad can be accomplished by word, money or hand. Each individual may face various jihads during their life. For him, he has strived in and in religion (converting others to Islam). His most difficult personal jihad has been becoming more submissive to God. When asked who would strive through the sword, he responded that there needed to be a community of followers before this could happen. He mentioned that is a good example of someone striving through protest. He would not comment on HANI HANJOURI or NAWAF AL-HAZMI's strive. Moreover, when asked about the striving of the other highjackers, he commented that there was no use in answering these questions. However, he further advised it would be easy to say the victims were innocent people.

When asked, he opined that USAMA BIN LADEN (UBL) is considered a hero in the Arab world, but he would not give his personal views. The Arab people view UBL as the new SALAH HADEEN (phonetic), who fought against the Crusaders.

If the U.S. wants to fix the problems with the Arab world, the government representatives must review foreign policy. The U.S. must quit supporting Israel and pull military forces out of Saudi Arabia. With one speech to call people to a jihad, a large group of people would line up to fight against the U.S. He refused to answer the question as to whether or not he would also be a fighter.

the greatest challenge for the new president would be terrorism, terrorist acts and UBL. Further, he made When asked, he defined 'Fatwa' was a religious decree made by a priest or scholar giving legitimacy to or prohibiting a certain act. These decrees are usually made pertaining to something not addressed during the time of Mohammad. When asked about whether UBL could declare a fatwa, he responded that this is appropriate because of UBL's notoriety as a war hero and status as a wealthy Saudi. UBL issued a fatwa to remove U.S. troops out of Saudi Arabia after the Saudi government allowed them in during the gulf war. When asked how view Americans, he, in turn asked for clarification as to whether interviewers meant the people or the government. After clarification, he proclaimed that the American people were viewed as non-believers, in Arabic "Kuffar". Non-believers (non-Muslim) are viewed as rejecters of Mohammad, which is sin to Muslims. particularly spoke of sins in America such as sexual promiscuity among women and partying which are glamorized by the media.

was then asked about his association with

He claimed that this was a racial incident and not terrorist related.

He further explained that the reaction to this incident was rational paranoia. However, he guaranteed this incident was not related to the 9/11 attacks.

When asked if the term AL QAEDA ever came up among him and his associates, he stated that he never knew the term before. He would refer to these people as MUJAHADEEN and not AL QAEDA.

To the U.S. was just getting what they deserve (attacks on 9/11) because of the current foreign policy. In fact, he provided an Arabic saying, "The magic that you made is now working against you."

When told that and others told investigators that went to an AL QAEDA training camp, he responded that they were lies. However, in response to prodding by asking regarding his attendance at this training responded that he could not answer the question. Moreover, stated that before he could answer SA he would have to pray about it (the answer). Based upon non-verbal expressions, it
On October 17, 2002, the interviewee was hiding the truth and could not legitimately back out of the interview. He was then asked about details of his capture. He was already blindfolded and secured.

At the conclusion of the interview, attempted to downplay the sincerity of the interviewing agents by characterizing them as government pawns. However, agreed to speak again with the same interviewing agents.
